INTERNATIONAL CONGRESS OF HISTORICAL SCIENCES

UNDER THE AUGUST PATRONAGE OF H M VICTOR EMANUEL III KING OF ITALY

Rome Spring 1902

It was the opinion of many scholars that it was desirable to discuss in an International Congress to be held in Rome at the beginning of the new century the most noteworthy questions which have arisen during the last 50 years in the field of historical research, showing clearly their development among all civilized peoples and noting to what extent Italy has participated in such scientific movement

The historic and artistic importance of Rome and the revival of historical science favoured in Italy by the unification of her territory seemed to suggest the suitability of such a proposal

The favourable reception accorded to an invitation made last year shows how the desire of individual corresponds to the common wish of a considerable number of men of letters

The list of the first signatories is enough to show in the clearest manner with what enthusiasm the project of the forthcoming International Congress of Historical Sciences has been received and approved

We are therefore happy to announce that the Congress has obtained the august patronage of H M Victor Emanuel III the learned and cultured King who places among the cares of sovereignty the protection of arts and sciences also that H R H Louis of Savoy—Duke degli Abruzzi (whose reputation as an intrepid explorer has obtained the admiration of the civilized world) has deigned to accept the position of Vice Patron of the section dealing with the history of explorations and of geographical discoveries

Moreover the support of the Ministers for Public Instruction and for Foreign Affairs and of the Municipalities of Rome Naples and Venice, has been promised to the forthcoming scientific function

Almost all the most important Societies of Italy have signified their adhesion The Royal Academy of Letters the Royal Society of Naples the Royal Academy of Palermo the Lombard Institute the Institute of Venice the Royal Historical Institute of Italy the majority of branch Royal National Historical Institutions and of provincial Historical Societies as well as eminent foreign Institutions and Academies

The learned Professors—Senator Ascoli Comparetti and Villari—have accepted honorary presidency and a committee of about one hundred persons composed of eminent Italian and foreign scientists will collect and arrange the scientific material which will form the subject matter for discussion

The Congress will embrace all branches of knowledge of an historical character or which refers to the history of the multiform activities of the human race It will be divided into as many sections as may be indicated by the nature of the studies to which adherents have devoted themselves

Unless further sub division or regrouping of the subjects should appear opportune or necessary the principal sections of the Congress will be the following —

(1) Paleontology—Classic Archæology
(2) Numismatics
(3) Ancient History—Oriental and Classic
(4) History of Ancient Literature
(5) History of Ancient Law
(6) Mediæval and Modern History general and diplomatic—the Science of Diplomacy and Archives
(7) History of Mediæval and Modern Literature
(8) History of Mediæval and Modern Art
(9) History of Modern Law
(10) History of Economic and Social Science
(11) History of Philosophy and Education

(12) History of Religion
(13) History of Explorations and Geographical discoveries Historical Geography
(14) History of Mathematical Physical Natural and Medical Sciences
(15) The science or art of teaching History

Themes which from their nature would not interest the majority of students will be excluded from discussion The Congress proposes to present and facilitate the solution of problems of general importance which require the collective labour of learned men and in case of need the assistance of Scientific Societies

The Congress will also afford an opportunity for scientific communication in which authors of any historical work in preparation and in course of being printed will describe the results they have attained and will briefly make known the principal arguments in support of their conclusions

Finally individual statement —giving in a temperate and condensed form information as to the scientific movement of various school of thought of an historical character will be both opportune and necessary

We propose to make our programme known in detail by means of successive circulars, it being our earnest desire to complete it in accordance with such suggestions as may reach us from learned Italians and foreigners who we would fain hope will take an active part in such a great exhibition of international scientific labour It would however be desirable that such titles be communicated to the General Secretary of the Congress not later than January 1909 in order that they may be distributed in good time to the members of the Committee who will examine them with a view to their ultimate disposal

Among the proposals of the Executive Committee for promoters there are the following — To inaugurate a great library of publications of an historical character and referring to the history of various science published in Italy either by scientific societies or by private individuals Such a collection of works would commence from 1860 or earlier in the case of any series then already in existence

To illustrate the relationship between Italian science and that of other nations and to point out the progress made and the gaps which remain to be filled up

For success in such an undertaking which we trust will not only help to maintain ever more closely the bonds of international science but will also be of use to Italian science we trust to the assistance of the Government of the Royal Academies Royal Institutions and Historical Societies And here we also turn to individual publishers and authors in the hope that they will send their most important publications to the President of the Executive Committee or to the General Secretary of the Congress

It will be the care of the Executive Committee to take and make public in good time all necessary measures in order that those attending the Congress may enjoy the usual reductions in terms as to their journey means of transport lodging etc

Nor will the Committee omit to arrange that such special terms may be extended beyond the limits of the city itself in which the Congress will take place At the present moment we are in a position to promise without hesitation that Rome and Italy will do their best worthily to welcome those who come from other countries

The Town Council of Venice has already passed a vote of greeting to those attending the Congress who may visit that town on their way to Rome The excellent Royal Venetian Hospital Association will hold a special session in the visitors honour

Alma Roma will not only give free access to her museums to her galleries to her monuments but by the inauguration of new and important exhibitions on ancient and modern art of scientific photography etc will show how much here the ruler of the ancient world participates in the intellectual movement which gives fresh life to modern nations

Arrangements have already been made that on the occasion of the forthcoming International Congress new excavations shall be carried out in the Latin soil of antiquity If the negociations already initiated by the Committee are there is reason to hope successful the Congress will close with an excursion to the classic neighbourhood of Naples and Pompei

The Committee wishes to promise less than it hopes to be able to perform There appears however no reason to be silent as to the fact that there will be under the auspices of the Royal Academy of S Cecilia certain musical performances of an historical character which cannot fail to be of great interest We do not intend that the forthcoming scientific event shall lose in the slightest degree the characteristic of sober austerity proper to science but on the other hand setting our faces against all pedantry with that the inrush of visitors which usually accompanies every Congress may enjoy art exhibitions visits to museums and monuments and also musical recreation We shall make it our careful study that the entire programme may be in harmony with the strictly scientific aims of the Congress itself

The Congress will be opened in the spring of 1902 We shall indicate later, the exact dates on which it will take place but we wish it to be held at a suitable time of year, when the presence of a greater number of foreigners may be hoped for

We trust that our programme will meet with your approval and with that of your colleagues, to whom we beg that you will communicate it

Sir

With reference to your No 8881-3/1423 dated 9th inst I have the honor to submit the following report

If the Govt wish to assist the Congress by contributing to the Feast of Reason, they should ascertain whether there are any historical works in course of preparation or publication in the Province of Mysore of sufficient importance to attract the attention of a body of European scholars out for a holiday If there are any such works in course of publication or preparation, the author or authors, or some of them might be sent on deputation to represent the Mysore Govt In deciding on the relative importance of such works in course of preparation or publication special attention should be paid to the first paragraph on page three of the enclosure which states that themes which from their nature would not interest the majority of students will be excluded from discussion This condition would possibly disqualify some of the philosophers who might consider themselves qualified as representatives for the eleventh section of the Congress (See foot of page 2 of the enclosure)

If there are no such works in course of preparation or publication in the province the Govt might perhaps derive some ~~assistance~~ valuable hints from the Congress if they were to send a deputation - say of one European and one native — with instructions to report on the present position of Historical Research in Europe as represented at the Congress. If it is the intention of Govt to ~~use~~ start a Historical Institute, by developing the Oriental Library or otherwise such a report would doubtless be of great assistance

The question remains however whether it is not premature to discuss such an Institute My opinion is that the money would be much better spent in forming and maintaining a good Library

SIR,

With reference to your docket No 8881-3/H1423 dated 9th December 1901 which I regret has remained unanswered till now I have the honour to inform you that I know of no retired officer or officer who may be on leave at the time when the International Congress of Historic Sciences is to be held that may be deputed to attend the Con ress by the Mysore Government

2 The Director of Archaeology in Mysore is I believe the only officer who has studied the Archeolo y and Ancient History of Mysor and who may contribute to the section on Ancient History-Oriental and Classic But I doubt whether the Antiquities and Ancient History of Mysore would interest the majority of students For the prospectus says that Theres which from their nature would not interest the majority of students will be exclud d from discussic The Con ress proposes to present and facilitate the solution of problems of eneral importance which require the collective labour of learned men, and, in case of need, the assistance of Scientific Societies. Though any contribution the Director of Archaeology may make may not interest the majority of students", he may profitably attend the meetings and discussions of the Congress
